

As the strategic partner, MEEZA highlights the importance of effective and innovative technologies to achieve the Qatar National Vision 2030

MEEZA to showcase its capabilities in four solution areas at QITCOM 2014

Doha – Qatar, 25 May 2014 – MEEZA, the leading IT services and solutions provider in Qatar, is the strategic partner for QITCOM 2014 which will be held at the Qatar National Convention Centre on May 26-28.

As the strategic partner for QITCOM, MEEZA continues to support the Ministry of Information and Communication Technology's objective to encourage innovation and provide the ideal technology platform for enterprise consumers, entrepreneurs, students and enthusiasts.

MEEZA is constantly striving to gain a better understanding and comprehensive view on how things are going to evolve in Qatar. It is prepared to serve both private and government entities to effectively support the robust growth in Qatar through IT enablement.

At QITCOM, MEEZA will showcase its three geographically dispersed interconnected data centres aptly called M-VAULTs which allow the delivery of Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery Services. MEEZA will likewise conduct a "live penetration test" to demonstrate the capabilities of its Security Operations Centre (SOC), the first ever to be commercially available in Qatar.

With this rapid pace of development in the state, MEEZA is also engaged and plays a pivotal role in supporting the creation of iconic "Smart Cities". The objective is to bring all enabling technologies together in building an intelligent city that will elevate the quality of life and simultaneously be sustainable through managing energy consumption via smart metering, people-movers, smart tracking of resources as examples, and the provision of systems for renewable energy.

"MEEZA has continually endeavoured to be a pioneer in implementing leading and cutting-edge solutions", said Ghada Philip El Rassi, CEO, MEEZA. "Our organisation constantly invests in skills development, professional expertise, and the most effective and innovative technologies to support the Qatar National Vision 2030".
