

MEEZA's Chairman takes on additional role as CEO

04, April 2011, Doha: MEEZA, the leading provider of IT solutions and services in Qatar, a joint venture of Qatar Foundation, and member of Qatar Science and Technology Park, is pleased to announce its new CEO. Mr. Rashid Al Naimi, VP of Administration at Qatar Foundation, and Chairman of MEEZA, assumed an additional new role as CEO of MEEZA.

Mr. Al Naimi is familiar with MEEZA having served as Chairman since MEEZA's launch in November 2008. He carries with him a portfolio of responsibilities and operational functions at the Foundation, including the shared services area of Finance, Procurement, Information Technology, Human Resources, Support Services, Business Improvement and Quantity Management Systems.

Mr. Al Naimi's breadth of experience spans the entire spectrum of the business lifecycle, from supply chain, to delivering cost effective world-class products and services. He holds an outstanding record for building successful team-oriented environments and executing turn-around programs, which deliver company-wide continuous improvements and increased shareholder value.

'I am delighted to take on this additional role as it gives me a chance to personally get involved in expanding on the success of MEEZA. As Qatar expands its advanced networking capabilities, the country will be well positioned to offer an abundant set of services throughout the GCC region.' said Mr. Al Naimi. 'MEEZA's innovation in the GCC is second to none. MEEZA was the first local cloud services provider in the GCC and has been offering such services for over a year. We are seeing a tremendous change in the adoption and application of IT within the marketplace. I am looking forward to carrying the company's accomplishments into the next level.'

MEEZA is delighted to have Mr. Al Naimi as their Chairman and CEO. The company looks forward to continually providing service excellence to our clients both in Qatar and the region.
